Real science, hidden in play.

Two 16-bit games for ages 5 to 99. Dodge ocean trash. Fly to Jupiter's icy moon. Every fact in them is real.

01 · WHY Facts stick when you play them.

THE PROBLEM

A fact in a lesson stays a sentence

"Europa hides an ocean." "Plastic hurts sea turtles." A child hears it, and the next day it is gone. Facts feel far away from play.

OUR SOLUTION

Make the fact a game moment

In Crab Quest you dodge the trash. In Space X you fly through Europa's ice. Each fact shows up where it makes sense in the story, and nothing in it is invented.

02 · SEE IT Two games, ten levels.

Space X, level 4: the Ship breaks Europa's ice with footballs. Each chunk needs two hits, and the Europa level ends with a 3-second scan.

- Crab Quest: 6 chapters
  Platforming, dodging, collecting and surviving, from a kitchen to a coral sanctuary.
- Space X: 4 levels
  Launch pad, Earth orbit, asteroid belt and Europa, then the win screen on Jupiter.
- A fact card after every level
  A story line and one science fact in Space X.
- A planet fact on every game over
  The Sun and all eight planets, each with a picture.
- Keyboard or on-screen buttons
  Arrows, Space, P and R, plus clickable left, right and pause in Space X.
- Music, mute and fullscreen
  A mute button in Crab Quest; pause and fullscreen (F) in Space X.

Crab Quest 2: Beach Run, dodge the birds.

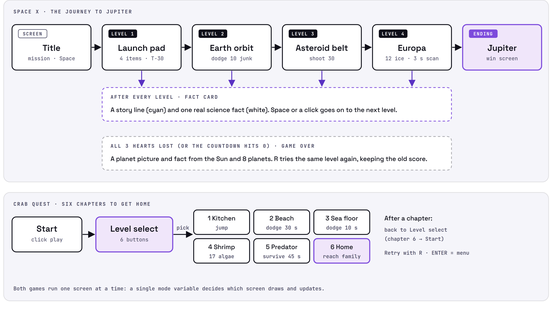

Crab Quest 4: Shrimp Help, collect 17 algae.

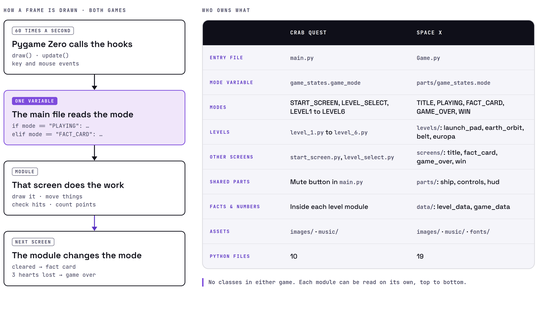

Space X: the fact card after a level.

03 · HOW One mode switch, plain Python.
